

Adjustable Cable Tray Price List

AI Overview

Adjustable cable tray supports typically range from $15 to $150 per unit, depending on material, size, and load capacity. Adjustable cable tray supports are brackets or hangers used to secure cable trays at various heights and angles, allowing flexibility in installation for commercial and industrial wiring systems. They are available in materials such as steel (galvanized or stainless), glass-fiber reinforced polyester (GRP), and epoxy-coated steel, each affecting durability and cost.

Price Factors

- Material: Steel (hot-dip galvanized): $20–$80 per support; Stainless steel: $50–$150 per support; GRP or epoxy-coated steel: $30–$100 per support.
- Size and Load Capacity: Shorter supports (200–500 mm) for light loads are cheaper. Longer supports (up to 2000 mm) or those rated for heavy loads (over 100 kg per support) cost more.
- Design Features: Adjustable brackets with telescopic or modular designs are more expensive than fixed supports. Supports with integrated clamps or vibration-damping features may add $10–$30 per unit.
- Supplier and Brand: Leading brands like Legrand, Cablofil, ERICO, and VALDINOX may charge premium prices for certified, high-quality supports.
- Additional Considerations: Bulk Orders: Purchasing in larger quantities often reduces the per-unit cost. Accessories: Nuts, bolts, and threaded rods are usually sold separately and can add $2–$10 per support. Installation: Adjustable supports may require more labor time, which can affect overall project cost.

In summary, expect to pay between $15 and $150 per adjustable cable tray support, with the final price influenced by material, size, load rating, and brand. For precise pricing, it is recommended to check suppliers like RS Components, McMaster-Carr, or DirectIndustry for current listings.
