

Fireproof cable trays are in large stock

AI Overview

Fireproof cable trays are widely available in large stock, with hundreds to thousands of units ready for industrial and commercial use. Fireproof cable trays are essential for safely supporting and organizing electrical cables while minimizing fire risks. They are designed to withstand high temperatures, resist flame propagation, and maintain structural integrity during fire exposure, making them suitable for industrial plants, commercial buildings, data centers, and high-rise constructions. Stock and Supplier Availability Alibaba lists over 999 fireproof cable tray products from multiple suppliers, including steel, aluminum, and fiberglass-reinforced options, with minimum order quantities as low as 5 units and delivery options available within weeks. Accio.com offers 45,000+ products from 6,300+ suppliers, including ladder, perforated, and wire mesh trays, with fire ratings up to 120 minutes and customizable sizes and finishes. Made-in-China reports large-span box-type fireproof cable trays in stock, capable of handling high load-bearing capacity and multiple branch lines, suitable for residential and industrial applications. NewReach provides fire-rated trays with powder-coated aluminum, galvanized steel, and FRP materials, tested to meet international fire safety standards, ensuring reliable performance during emergencies. Material and Type Options Steel and Galvanized Steel: Excellent fire resistance, high load capacity, suitable for heavy industrial and outdoor environments. Aluminum: Lightweight, corrosion-resistant, ideal for commercial buildings and sensitive electrical areas. FRP (Fiberglass-Reinforced Plastic): Non-conductive, chemical-resistant, suitable for laboratories, chemical plants, and hazardous locations. Wire Mesh: Promotes ventilation and heat dissipation, commonly used in data centers and telecom rooms. Applications Fireproof cable trays are used in: Industrial plants: Protecting control circuits, robotics, and safety interlocks. Commercial buildings: Supporting emergency lighting, fire alarms, and elevator controls. Power generation...
