

Greek Optical Cable Embedded Pipe Manufacturer

AI Overview

Hellenic Cables and Dimoulas Special Cables are leading Greek manufacturers providing optical cables, including embedded pipe solutions, with turnkey services for telecom and industrial projects. Key Manufacturers Hellenic Cables is one of the largest cable producers in Europe, with extensive experience in power, telecommunication, and submarine cables. They manufacture fiber optic cables, flexible subsea pipes, and other specialized cables for energy transmission, renewables, and telecom networks. Their production facilities in Thiva, Eleonas, Corinth, and Bucharest are equipped with state-of-the-art machinery, enabling high-quality cable manufacturing and embedded pipe solutions for both land and submarine applications (CENERGY HOLDINGS). Dimoulas Special Cables focuses on cable accessories and structured cabling solutions, including fiber optic systems. They provide technical support, project-specific design, and installation services. With over 50 years of experience, Dimoulas supplies cables for infrastructure projects such as hospitals, airports, wind turbines, and underground railways. Their large stock and proprietary warehouses in Aspropyrgos, Attica, allow for immediate delivery of specialized fiber optic cables embedded in conduits or pipes. ELECNET S.A. specializes in the development of optical fiber networks, offering structured wiring systems and network elements. They provide engineering services and turnkey solutions for fiber optic installations, making them a key player in telecommunication infrastructure projects in Greece. Asso.subsea is a contractor experienced in submarine cable projects, including transportation, installation, and protection of optical cables. Their expertise extends to offshore wind energy and floating infrastructure, providing embedded cable solutions in marine environments. Consid...
