AI Overview

Leading manufacturers of outdoor waterproof network cabinets include Server Room Environments, Sturdx, AmProd, EFB Elektronik, and AZE Telecom, offering IP/NEMA-rated enclosures for telecom, IT, and industrial applications.

Key Manufacturers and Offerings

- Server Room Environments (UK) They provide outdoor data and server rack cabinets designed for telecom, IT, and 5G/Edge computing applications. Cabinets are available in single or double door configurations, with bespoke sizes, sloped roofs, IP fan/filter ventilation, and thermostatically controlled heating. Their enclosures are weatherproof and waterproof, suitable for street and roadside installations, and the company holds ISO9001, ISO27001, and SafeContractor certifications.
- Sturdx (USA) Sturdx specializes in IP-rated (NEMA) outdoor network cabinets that protect against water, dust, temperature fluctuations, and mechanical impacts. These cabinets are ideal for telecommunications, surveillance systems, industrial automation, and renewable energy projects. They offer advanced environmental protection, temperature regulation, enhanced security, and versatile installation options.
- AmProd (USA) AmProd manufactures NEMA-rated outdoor telecom enclosures in the USA, fully compliant with Build America, Buy America (BABA) requirements. Their cabinets are designed to withstand extreme conditions, including desert heat, arctic cold, coastal humidity, and industrial dust. They feature precision-engineered gaskets, tight seals, and a durable powder-coated finish for long-term corrosion and UV resistance.
- EFB Elektronik (Germany) EFB offers a wide range of IP and outdoor cabinets made from steel, stainless steel, or aluminum. These enclosures are suitable for industrial environments, damp or humid areas, and telecommunication networks. They provide dust and water protection, air conditioni...
