

Uzbekistan Secondary Distribution Box

AI Overview

Secondary distribution boxes in Uzbekistan are widely imported and play a key role in the country's ongoing power distribution modernization. Market Overview Uzbekistan imports a significant number of distribution panels and secondary distribution boxes, with 487 verified buyers sourcing from over 540 global suppliers. Major importers include SP OOO BYD UZBEKISTAN FACTORY, OOO ZHONG DAO, and JV BYD UZBEKISTAN FACTORY LLC, which together account for over 70% of the country's imports in this category (487 buyers in total). Import data includes shipment volumes, weights, and product specifications, such as DC charging distribution boxes and front compartment distribution box bodies for automotive assembly. Trade intelligence platforms like Volza and Cybex provide detailed insights into buyer profiles, shipment history, and pricing trends, helping exporters identify high-potential partners. Distribution Network and Infrastructure Uzbekistan's electricity distribution system consists of over 260,000 km of 0.4 kV to 110 kV networks, 1,655 substations, and more than 86,000 transformer points, serving 7.6 million households and industrial consumers. Much of the infrastructure is outdated, with over 50% of the network operating for more than 30 years and 30% of substation transformers requiring urgent replacement. The government, with support from the Asian Development Bank (ADB), is modernizing and digitalizing the distribution system, including 110 kV to 35 kV substations, deploying SCADA systems, and improving automation to reduce technical losses and enhance demand response. Procurement and Distribution Channels For companies looking to supply secondary distribution boxes in Uzbekistan, the most effective channels include: Direct sales to major importers such as SP OOO BYD UZBEKISTAN FACTORY and OOO ZHONG DAO. Working with local distributors or agents who understand customs regulations and market conditions. Leveraging trade intelligence platforms to identify buyers, shipm...
